Cadet Training To Commence with School Opening

Cadet training will commence as soon as the ban on public gatherings is lifted. Any boy between the ages of twelve and eighteen is eligible to enroll.

Cadet training is purely voluntary, though the Department of Education offers credits toward the high school diploma for cadet work. Cadets receive no pay but are allowed a grant to go to camp in the summer.

Membership in the cadet corps does not mean that service in the armed forces on completion of training is obligatory, though any boys who wish to enlist in the permanent forces have a better chance for promotion due to having the previous training.

All equipment is supplied free. Rifles, uniforms, etc., will be issued as soon as training starts. Training consists of: drill, signalling with flags, buzzers, etc., administration and military law. Every boy has chance of promotion. All officers are chosen from the ranks.

Lethbridge school division has given its support to the movement and it is hoped that the people and organizations of this district will be right behind the local corps.

Champion, Harmony and Carmangay will be in the one corps.

Anyone interested or wishing further information is asked to get in touch with Cadet Instructor, B. R. Jordan.

The Weather

Continued rainfall prevented further harvesting. Precipitation for the week totalled 1.33 inches.

GIANT COASTAL GUNS ON GUARD IN BRITAIN

Around the shores of Britain, like a mighty ring of steel, stand the coastal defence guns. Day and night they are manned for instant action by expert gun crews who maintain their efficiency by exercises in all conditions of weather and light.

This picture is of a unit of a British coastal defence battery showing gunners at their station.

Keho Dome Report Ducks Down Dripping Duck-Hunters in Dewey Debacle

BARONS, Sept. 10.—A meeting of the directors of Keho Dome Oils Ltd., was held at Nobleford last evening. It was reported that the bit is now drilling through beds of fossils and gas pockets and this with oil sands already discovered give splendid indication of large production. Officials are highly pleased over the splendid showing and the next thousand feet promise to be very interesting. The geologist advises that the maximum drilling depth will be 4000 feet, with the main production horizons around 3700 feet. Showings to present depth are much better than anticipated.

Three of the local nimrods arose in the grey misty dawn of Monday to open the duck shooting season. Mother Nature aided their efforts by providing some very timely weather, but the boys couldn't take it as good as the ducks so the ducks won out. The boys returned home with their tail feathers rather dampened. F. Watts, P. Gatenby and Jock McIntyre comprised the party.

THE URGENCY OF WAR SAVINGS

While "we are in the presence of a crime without a name" it would be a major tragedy to lose both the war and the peace. That is the ominous probability of a headlong plunge into a period of wartime pleasure spending. A greater degree of saving is urgent need of the moment.

The cry from all the lips that speak to us across the no-man's land of the Atlantic ocean is for more and more materials. Our ability to produce the materials of war in satisfactory quantity is limited by our physical capacity and time. Our only hope lies in diverting peace-time operations to wartime requirements.

Diversion of productive facilities is effected in either or both of two ways, voluntary or otherwise. Financial measures, such as by taxation and borrowing, are useful and play an important part, but the part they play is dependent upon the measure of public support they receive.

In the Victory Loan drive, Canadians added to their laurels, and the measure of their effort in this direction will make pleasant reading when the final figures are issued from Ottawa this month. That, however, is water over the dam, and War Savings is now in need of support. This is the movement in which the greatest number of Canadians can put their shoulders to the wheel.

War Savings is a twice-blessed effort in that dollars invested in War Savings Certificates do double service: they do not compete with the war effort and they stand ready to take up the slack for the peacetime readjustment. Dollars diverted from non-essential spending at this time leave room for the expansion of production needed for the men overseas.

EASILY IDENTIFIED

A city boy was sent out to take an inventory on a farm. He hadn't any experience in this type of work and, in making a list of the chattels and stock, he came to an animal which he was unable to identify—a goat. So he phoned his boss and said: "What do you call this thing around here with a white beard, a long, sad face and a rough coat, worn out in spots?"

To which his boss replied: "That, you fool, is the farmer!"

"Don't you wish we could shorten the war?"

He: "Well, in a way we can, you know."

She: "But, George, we're not trained to do anything..."

He: "Training doesn't matter for what I'm thinking about. I was wondering whether we couldn't put more of our income into War Savings Certificates."

She: "And why not? We might have to go without one or two pet luxuries—but wouldn't it be worth it to bring back peace again?"

He: "And won't we be glad of the money—and the interest it will have earned—in a world without war restrictions?"

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

Unknown Poet Loose in Champion

Champion boasts some unknown, unsung poet. A week or so ago George Depue journeyed to Calgary and bought himself a brand new portable typewriter. A morning or so after when we were in the store George asked us if we would like to see the machine and proudly opened up the case. Sitting on the roller of the typewriter was a slip of paper with the following poem typed on it:

Here's to old George,
He's never around.
If you want to buy something
He cannot be found.

So I use his new typewriter
With joy or with glee;
For if he was here,
He wouldn't let me.

THE LITTLE PEOPLE OF ENGLAND

by Mrs. Vallance S. Patriarche

"THEY carry no weapons, wave no banners, chant no stately measures of poesy, these little people of England. Pale clerks, laborers with stiff gnarled hands; old fishermen and young mechanics; housewives, washerwomen, nurse-maids and chaps, and tired children singing underground fit to break your heart.

"THEY climb to heights of glory as if born to sacrifice and heroism, scaling the peaks by humble paths and mean alleys which turn to pits of flame; or attaining the summit of valor through dark and cruel descent into the icy waters of the sea. Like soldiers they have borne the shock of fire and shell, like sailors they have gone down unflinchingly to their death in shattered ships, and like aviators they have given their strength to rise 'By Labor to the Stars'.

"NO Abbey walls have space to record the deeds of these simple ones, gone sadly or gaily to eternity. Their names shall not be graven on stone nor painted on glass; no Roll of Honor could set them forth. But the dust of England, the winds that whisper in her trees, the waves which beat upon her shores, shall vibrate with the passion of their courage, the splendor of their sacrifice. Each dawn shall tell how they arose in humble cheerfulness to light their tiny corner of the earth with a candle of faith, each sunset shall be a flaming beacon to remind all men of their burning steadfastness."

KILL THE WEEDS

The heavy rains which have fallen in recent weeks in many districts will induce vast hosts of weed seeds to germinate. Farmers, therefore, have a golden opportunity of killing masses of these weeds if they will give a light dicing or cultivating to their land before freeze-up occurs.
